Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothing

Of all the beautiful, attractive creations that the famous "Clothes Makers," Hart, Schaffner and Marx, ever produced, this fall's styles eclipse all others from an artistic standpoint.

Clothing dealers throughout the U.S. who haven't the H., S. & M. goods, but who wish to impress you with the value of the article they want to sell, will always say "this is just as good as the H., S. & M." But why buy an imitation, when you can get the real article. The more you study the clothes question, the more clear it is that Hart. Schaffner & Marx clothes are best. We sell them, at right prices.

Emery of the Wyoming station recomsolution of sheep dip. He estimates that 10 to 121/2 gallons will be sufficient for thirty to forty fowls. The plumage should be thoroughly soaked, and care exercised to prevent the solution from getting into the lungs of the fowls. Yards and buildings should be sprayed with the same preparation. Mr. Emery's directions seem a little unsafe, since sheep dip differs greatly in composition. Those which contain the different oils of petroleum origin are liable to do serious injury to the plumage and skin. Most of the dipping preparations should first be tried very cautiously. #### REVIVAL OF THE BAGPIPES.

Two Young Women Are Looking for Engagements.

London society is threatened with an outbreak of that eccentric instrument, the bagpipe. Several novelty seeking society girls have learned how to play, and are on the lookout for evening engagements. THE split among the Adventists probably concerns nobody so much as themselves, but human experience seems to side with Dr. Kellogg. Great businesses cannot be plucked up by the roots and transplanted at every whim, like plants in a flower crock, without loss and danger. Besides, the superstition or the cowardice which runs away instead of facing disaster itself invites defeat. It is the spirit which defies defeat, which will not be conquered by disaster, that pulls an enterprise through to success. How many a town dates back the time of its growth to some great fire! How many burned-out business firms have begun to rebuild before the ashes were cold and pushed on to greater growth and prosperity! What would have happened if Chicago had taken a scare after the rects a scuttle policy. McKinley welded public sentiment into a vigorous force with a single phrase-"No scuttle!" Dr. Kel logg has transformed the phrase into brick and mortar, and the new sanitarium stands as the monument of his enterprise, his courage and his sound business sense. It will take something more than a "vision" to destroy public confidence in him or his great undertaking.

THE South has always been averse to new ideas, but the Presbyterianism of the Cumberland Valley and Western Virginia is a little more so than the average. The Future of Our City.

There are some who will say "This will not come in my time." Even though it does not, we should pave the way for others, as our ancestors did for us. #### WASHTENAW IN SAME BOAT. Reform Needed.

The need of a county official who shall perform the functions placed upon the comptroller under the city charter was made apparent during the discussion of the county budget by the board of supervisors. Although the matter was put over for a day for the express purpose of gettell how much the county's debt is. This is a rather remarkable state of affairs. It probably is not due to any particular officer's lack of knowledge or failure to attend to his duties, but rather to the present system or lack of system of doing the county's business.

The supervisors could not serve the county better than to employ an expert accountant to go through the books of the county and devise and institute a businesslike system of bookkeeping. The new system should start with the framing of the annual budget by the supervisors. All the county officers and departments of the county government take pot-luck from a common fund under the existing methods, and there is never any telling how any one of the departments stands or how gance and the evil should be corrected before it develops into a scandal. The budbe for specific purposes and overdrawing of funds should not be allowed.-Grand Contagious Diseases in Jackson County. The supervisors' report in Jackson county appears in full in the Jackson Citizen for Tuesday, Oct. 27, and it is interesting to note that the bills for treating contagious diseases, supplies, and for material burned in case of smallpox, amount in the aggregate to $4553,92. Of this amount $3827,52 was allowed by the board on recommenda tion of the committee. These bills include some plants grow better than thirty-two (32) cases of smallpox, some of which embrace whole families.

We wonder whether the supervisors of Washtenaw county will furnish an itemized report, including the names of those sick and the physicians attending them, with charges per visit, as is done in the Jackson report. This certainly ought to be done, and the public are entitled to know who is fleecing the county to the tune of $16,000 for contagious diseases. If the bills of Jackson county amount to only $4553, of which only $3827 are allowed, Scott's Emulsion offers an how is it that Washtenaw is made to pay easy way out of the difficulty. four times as much with a population

INVISIBLE LIGHT.

Only When It Strikes the Retina of the Eye Can It Be Seen.

What is the simplest demonstration of the fact that light is invisible? The blackness of a midnight sky demonstrates this fact most readily. We may see the planets of the moon brilliantly illuminated by the sun's rays, but the surrounding space is dark, although we know that light must be passing there.

The passage of a beam of light through a darkened room is only visible on the dust in the air, and the cone of light seen when the sun shines through a small hole in a shutter is not visible, but only light reflected from the motes in the beam. This can be easily and simply demonstrated by placing in the beam a glass vessel from which the dust has been carefully removed. The beam then may be seen pefore and after entering the vessel, but is invisible within. A Bunsen ourner or a redhot poker held so as to destroy the motes will also render the eam invisible at that spot.

Light is only visible when it strikes n the retina of the eye, and it can only do so when it reaches it in a diect line or is turned by a reflection or refraction into a direct line. Just as the bullets from a gun do a man no narm unless aimed or turned in their ourse toward his body, so light is vithout effect unless it is aimed or turned toward the retina.—Pearson's

First Women on the English Stage. It is only with the restoration drama that the annals of actresses on the English stage begin. Queen Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles I., had early made a vain attempt to introduce the French fashion of female players into her adopted country by the establishment of a French company composed only of women in London. But the experiment was premature, and the foreigners were hissed and pelted off the stage at their first performance.

Until 1660 the female parts had always been taken by boys, and the custom survived even after women had taken their place upon the stage, since some of the more famous of the boy actors (grown into men) continued occasionally to play their favorite roles as late as the end of the seventeenth century. Kynaston, the chief boy actor, survived till 1699, long after the ladies had ousted him from the principal parts, and in 1661 Pepys, who saw him in the "Silent Woman," speaks of him as "the liveliest lady for a boy" he had ever seen.

Advice.

The best advice that can be given probably is: Take all the advice you can get and then do as you please. The successful person, or the one whom the crowd counts successful, is being constantly besieged with applications for advice how to succeed. He is generally incapable of giving it. The same advice, outside of a few maxims gener ally applicable, is seldom good for two persons. Advice, as a rule, is cheap and about as valuable as most cheap things. To be constantly following advice without stopping to consider its source is the plain mark of weakness. It is this trait of weak human nature which makes the business of the pat ent medicine maker so profitable. The person of power is the one who neither gives nor takes advice in generous quantities. CAUGHT IN A LOG JAM.

Thrilling Fishing Experience In Northern Michigan.

Upon one occasion in northern Michigan I was trout fishing in company with a veteran timber cruiser, a man who knew everything about the rough bush life, says a writer in World's Work. In time we reached a bend in the stream where a lot of small logs had jammed during the spring freshet. My comrade unconcernedly ventured upon the logs, and before I could follow by some mischance he stepped upon a loose one and instantly disappeared. Had I not been looking at him it is likely I should have imagined he had crossed and gone into the brush upon the farther side. One log of all the mass was rolling, and a hand showed at one side of it. To dart across and seize the hand occupied very few sec onds, but to my horror I could not pull him up through the narrow space through which he had slipped. To set a foot upon the log either side the opening and shove with all strength was the only hope. For seconds I clung to the wrist and strained mightily. Slowly the logs separated and up he came till he was able to twist upon his stomach across a log. Half drowned as he was, he had not lost his nerve. "Do-don't let 'em squeeze back on me!" he gasped, and a moment later he was on his feet. Most men would have weakened then, but he was iron. He had swallowed a lot of water, had been cheek by jowl with an awful death, yet he had no idea of proving false. The logs were slowly slipping farther apart and I was standing like a certain large gentleman of Rhodes and unable to stand much more spreading or to spring to either side, while, of course, to slip into the water meant to enter the trap he had just escaped. In a few seconds he seized my hand and one quick haul carried me to firm footing. The logs at once closed like a gigantic trap. When we reached solid ground my comrade almost collapsed, and for half an hour he was a very sick man. Later he said: "I held my breath as long as I could, calculatin' you might try to get me, an', pardner, I'll never forget that little turn. I reckon I was in a mighty tight place."

LESSON V, FOURTH QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 1.

Text of the Lesson, II Sam. xv, 1-12. Memory Verses. 4-6-Golden Text, Ex. xx, 12-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1903, by American Press Association.] After the everlasting, unconditional covenant made with David concerning his son, who would be Israel's Messiah, and the kingdom of righteousness, as recorded in our last lesson in this book (chapter vii), we read of David's great prosperity and righteous reign (viii, 15). Then comes the record of his great sin and repentance, the sin of Amnon and his death at the hands of his brother Absalom, after which Absalom fled to the king of Geshur and remained there three years, but through the pleading of the wise woman of Tekoa, employed by Joab, he came back to Jerusalem and dwelt two whole years without reconciliation to his father, after which, through Joab's intercession, the king became reconciled to him, saw him after commencing the treatment I felt betand kissed him (xiv, 28, 33). Absa- ter and in a very short time I was cured. lom signifies "father of peace," but his Up to date there has been no recurrence conduct suggests one who is of his fa- I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills ther the devil (John viii, 44). The to more than one of my friends, who king's kiss to Absalom was the loving praise them much as I do. I am thorkiss of a heartbroken father welcoming his erring son, but the kiss of Absalom (if he did kiss his father) was like the kiss of Judas when he betrayed his Master. This is the third time in fourtion of this chapter assigned as a lesson instead of the much more helpful and suggestive portion following, but we are asked today to study verse 23. which is some improvement.

The story of Absalom is one of de ceit and lying and treachery and rebellion even against his own father. Per haps there was no one more wicked. His unscrupulous self seeking, even at the cost of his father's life, is suggest tive of the devil, who would if possible dethrone God, and who will yet seek to do so ere the age closes. Make a care ful and prayerful study of the follow ing passages and be ever on your guard against all such manifestations. Isa xiv, 13, 14; Dan. vii, 25; viii, 24, 25; xi, 36; II Thess. ii, 3, 4; Rev. xiii, 5-7; xvii, 14; xix, 19, 20. There are many fore shadowings on a small scale-politicians who will not take up a matter without first considering how it may affect their own political prospect; those who, for their own ends, by good words and fair speeches, deceive the hearts of the simple; those who under pretense of worshiping God have only in view their own promotion and possibly the overthrow of some just person. How desperately wicked must have been the heart of Absalom, who, with profession of devotion to God on his lips and his father's blessing sounding in his ears, goes forth to carry out his devilish designs against his father. Yet there is an ever increasing multitude who are disobedient to parents and in open rebellion against God (II Tim. iii, 1-5). But as truly as David returned and sat on his throne in peace (xix, 14) so shall our Lord Jesus return and reign on David's throne, and the work of righteousness shall be peace and the effect of righteousness quietness and 17). There are many ahithophels (foolish brethren, the name signifies) who stand high before men in relation to the king, but who, while outwardly professing allegiance, are really on the side of the enemy. Let us turn from the dark picture of self and sin to the faithful few who said to David in this dark hour, "Behold thy servants are ready dence portion.-Free Press. to do whatsoever my lord the king shall appoint," and to Ittai, who said. "As the Lord liveth and as my lord the king liveth, surely in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death

To mere natural sight it looked dark for David, but God had promised that the kingdom would be established forever and there were some who had faith in God and were also ready to die with David rather than live with Absalom. The time was, and in China only two years ago, when to live meant to deny Christ, but many confessed Him and died for Him. See in Rev. xiii. 15-17, a description of coming days, and see in Rev. xiv. 9-11: xv. 2-4, the future of those who deny Christ in order to live and the future of such as die for His sake. May we have the spirit of Ittai and of Ruth and of Elisha (Ruth 1, 16, 17; II Kings ii, 2, 4, 6, 9), and may our determined stand be that of Paul in Phil. i. 20: iii. 8-10. Note David's submission and recognition of God in this great trial, "Behold, here am I, let Him do to me as seemeth good unto Him" (verses 25, 26). Over the same brook Kidron (verse 23; John xviii, 1) went the Son of David on the night of the agony in Gethsemane and the betrayal by Judas Iscariot, and the faithful followers were very few. From the same Olivet (verse 30) the rejected Christ returned to His home in heaven, and to the same Olivet will He come again to overthrow His enemies and establish the promised kingdom with Jerusalem as a center (Acts i, 11, 12; Zech. xiv, 4). therefore let us obey Isa. lxii, 6, 7.

be" (verses 15, 21).

David's going barefoot is suggestive of his acknowledgment that this was all of God, and God must manage it, for it is His affair. He knows how to perform His every purpose, and it becomes us to put off our shoes in His presence as He said to Moses and to Joshua (Ex iii, 5; v, 15). We have come to a place of great rest when, with true humilit and absolute confidence in God, we ca go day by day with unshod feet, ac knowledging that the whole life and : its service, ressive or active, are of God, all appointed and prepared for us and we have only to walk with Him in it He the aut'or and finisher of all. Con trast a life ike this with the wretched life of Absalom, and it is like contrasting heaven and hell.

FOGS, WINDS AND STORMS OF VA-RIED PECULIARITIES.

The "Williwau" That Spends Itself Upon Tierra del Fuego-The "Fohn" Wind of Switzerland and the Fe rocious "Purga" of Siberia.

In mountainous countries, such as Scotland, a fog usually forms at the top of a hill and works downward. The cold mountain top, cooling a warm current of wet air, renders its moisture visible, and this cold fog, being of lower temperature than the air below and therefore heavier, drops gradually to the valley. Colorado, however, can show an exception to this general rule. There in winter the frost on the low ground is so intense that a fog often 50 CARLOADS BALED HAY forms in the valleys and works slowly up the mountain side. This is known by the Indian name of "pogonip."

Peru has hundreds of square miles along its coast of rainless country. In this tract rain is never known to fall from one century's end to another. Yet the region is not entirely barren of vegetation. Some parts of it, indeed, are comparatively fertile. This is due to the extraordinary fogs known as "garuas." They prevail every night from May to October after a summer that is sultry and extend up to a level of 1,200 feet above the sea. Above 1,200 feet rain falls.

The "calina" of Spain is a fog we may be grateful that we on not have. It is a dry, yellow mist which some times hides the sun for days at a time over vast tracts of country and makes the sky look as though covered with leaden gauze. Another peculiar freak of weather we must be thankful to escape is the "williwau." This form of storm is confined to that faroff island Tierra del Fuego. The coast is indented with deep fiords crowned with high moun tains. Down from their gorges drops the "williwau." A low, hoarse mutter ing is heard in the distance. Sudden ly, without the least preliminary puff. a fearful blast of wind drops upon the sea. The water is not raised into waves, but driven into fine dust. For tunately the shock lasts but ten or twelve seconds, and calm follows at once, for no vessel could stand such a wind for even half a minute. During the coming and going of a "williwau" the barometer may be watched to drop a tenth of an inch or more and rise again at once.

Similar in name if not in nature is the "willy willy" with which Kalgoor-He gold diggers are acquainted, to their cost. "Dust devils," some people call them. Half a dozen may be seen dancing harmlessly along over the desert when suddenly one will dive into the city and fill all the shop windows in Hannan street with dust and sand, blinding every passerby. The "willy willy" is a thief of the worst kind. It will steal the washing from a line or the roof from a shed. In some parts of the country wire ropes are anchored over the roofs of huts to save them from the attacks of these odd little whirlwinds. Most people have heard of the "fohn" wind of Switzerland, that warm, dry gale which comes over the mountains and in spring will melt two feet of snow in a day. Its cause is most peculiar. The "fohn" comes from the south. As it strikes the Alps it is wet, like most gales which have crossed the sea, but the south face of the mountains receives its rain, and as it crosses the summits it is dry. The moving air current is also compressed and therefore dynamically heated. As it falls into the northern valleys in a cataract of air it gains heat at the rate of half a degree for every 100 feet of descent. It usually blows for two or three days, causing great suffering by its dry heat and oppression. While it lasts the temperature is about thirty degrees above the average. The "chinook" of British Columbia and the western side of the United States is very similar to the England has adopted the American word "blizzard" for a gale with snow. But the blizzard, however, must yield to the ferocious "buran" of the central steppes of Asia and the "purga" of northern Siberia. To be caught in gales such as these means death in a very few minutes, however warmly clad, for the very air becomes unbreathable, so filled is it with spikes of ice drift.

"Khamsin" is the hot wind from the desert which blows out of the Sahara upon Egypt. The word means fifty, from the idea that it lasts for fifty days. The "khamsin" is terribly hot and dry and sometimes brings pestilence with it.

Red snow we have all heard of. It is caused by a microscopic infusorial growth and only occurs in snow that has lain unmelted for a long time. In Spitzbergen recently green snow has been noted tinted by similar organisms. "Gold dust" snow has often been seen, but only in spring. At one time it was a mystery how the surface of new fallen snow came to be strewn with a shining yellow deposit. Now it is known to be due to the pollen of pine trees.-Pearson's Weekly. Spent More Than $1000. W. W. Diplomat Blundered in Trying to Escape Interviewer.

The late British ambassador, Sir Michael Herbert, had a horror of interviewers. He once told Senator Depew that he lav awake nights thinking up methods to escape from them.

"Once on my return to America from London," related Sir Michael to the senator, "I knew I would find a me at the pier, seeking news of a all the way over, until the last day occurred to me. I wrote on a dozen sheets of paper, 'I think so,' and slipped them into envelopes. These I handed to the reporters as I left the ship and hurried to my carriage. for this one: Last year there were a number of claims for damages brought against one of the railroads in Mississippi by the farmers in a certain county of that state. These claims arose out of the fact that many hogs had been killed by the trains of the railroads in question. A mixed commission was formed of railroad men and others to determine the equity of these claims. Among others questioned by this commission was an old darky who claimed to have been an eye-witness of the an-

"Tell us, in as few words as pos sible, how this hog was killed.' Old Zeph shifted a huge cud of tobacco from one cheek to the other, cleared his throat, and then replied:

"Well, sah," said he, "as nearly as I kin make it out, it was dis way: De train tooted and den tuk him!'

The visitors were larger and heavier and play a fast, hard game, but Ypsilanti came near scoring twice, costly fumbles and poor judgment at times spoiling their chances. Mt. Clemens was repeatedly penalized for off-side play and also fumbled badly.

Ypsilanti won the toss. Mt. Clemens held them on the thirty-yard line and then tore through the line for big gains. Shaw got the ball on a fumble and Witmire did effective line bucking, but Mt. Clemens got the ball on downs on their twenty-yard line, and Fenton carried the ball over the line. DeKay kicked goal just before time was called. In the second half Ypsilanti did some excellent work, but lost the ball on Mt. Clemens' five-yard line. The visitors rushed the ball up-field, and time was called with the ball in Ypsilanti's posses-

Mt. Clemens brought along a carload of rooters. They refused to allow any Ypsilanti man or Forrest as official, and the high school had learned from the Normal's experience not to allow a Mt. The lecture on Robert Burns by Judge W.D. Harriman in the Presbyterian course Tuesday evening attracted a large audience. The lecture was preceded by a brief musical program. Mrs. C. P. Riley played a march by Flagler, Guilmant's "Pastorale," variations of "The Blue Bells of Scotland' and "Coming Thro' the Rye," and "Annie Laurie" was sung by a ladies quartet-Misses Gareissen, Foster, Bird and Bene

Judge Harriman is an enthusiastic admirer of Burns, who, he declared, is the epitome of the Scottish character. Because he is human through and through because he deals with things deep down in human nature that will never pass away, and because he reaches the very core of the human heart and gives expression to FRIENDS OF THE YPSILANTIAN WHO HAVE BUSI- the inmost feelings that are eternal, because his nature is sweet and sincere, his writings can never grow old nor cease to interest humankind. Burns was rustic in appearance, uncouth in manner, democratic, and therefore unpopular in his political views, a scorner of the theology and cant of his time, and so was looked down upon by the literati of his time, but his fame is ever increasing while their very names are almost forgotten. Burns was essentially religious in character, but he made clear the distinction between sanctity and sanctimoniousness, and so was feared. He possessed a childlike kindliness and sinerity, a wealth of tenderness and affection, yet no braver or more manly man ever lived. He stood by his democratic principles at the cost of social position. His was a personality that dominated those about him. He fascinated people of every class and kind. He was a true patriot and immortalized even the flowers and streams of his native land. Poetry wells from his heart as naturally as the song wells from the throat of a nightingale on a summer evening, and his fame will increase as the centuries roll by.

After the lecture Mrs. Riley played a stirring march.

The second lecture in this course will be given by Judge Harriman Tuesday evening, November 3, in the Presbyterian church, on "William Zullen Bryant," Mrs.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the Methodist church, Tuesday, Nov. 3, at 3 o'clock and desire as many present as possible, as the matter of providing a "Rest Room" in the city where visitors may be made comfortable and enjoy their lunch will be under consideration. Those interested in this enterprise, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend this meeting. This is an important matter for the interests of the city generally, and a large attendance is urged.

The first concert in the choral union course will be a song recital, Nov. 6 in University Hall, by David Bispham, the great basso. Bispham is said to be in splendid voice this year and his recent concert in Detroit received warmest praise. Choral union tickets are for sale at Rogers' and at the Normal Conservatory. Tickets admitting to the five winter concerts only are $2.50; those to the ten concerts including the May Festival are $3.50; but the $2 50 ticket on payment of another dollar will be exchanged for the full course. Reserved seats for the festival are $1 and Numerous dogs have been poisoned in the neighborhood of Hawkins and Harriet streets lately, and Sunday a dog bit its mistress and acted so that it was supposed to be mad. The neighbors shot the dog, and it was learned that its madness was the result of the poison. It is said the perpetrator of the cowardly act is likely to be apprehended soon. No punishment is too severe for such a brute.

The Pinnacle of Success

AS been reached in our superb collection of Fall and Winter apparel for men and boys. Are you aware that a great majority of the best dressed men in this part of the country have long been customers of ours? They have received the same satisfaction when buying clothes here ready-to-put-on that they formerly did when they patronized a custom-tailor and paid him twice as much for each garment. It is a fact, and a practice that you would do well to emulate, if you have the slightest care for your personal appearance and where your dollars go to. In connection with this, and in full proof of statement, we want to show you the Suits and Fall Top Coats that
